

Learning for Change

Connecting local and global education

Education and awareness

Learning for change

Connecting local and global education

Health and poverty

Connecting local and global education

Diversity and racism

THIS EVENT IS SUPPORTED BY IRISH AID

Learning for Change

Connecting local and global education

The conference aims to identify the common principles that encourage 'learning for change', i.e. what kind of education results in the learner altering their lives and action choices to achieve a common goal of a just and sustainable world. It seeks to bring together a community of educators to share their work and recognise a common goal of inspiring learners and creating active citizens. It intends to support the work of participants by looking into theories behind the concept of learning for change and providing in-depth workshops on selected methodologies that can be adapted to different organisational and individual needs.

When: Thursday 11 March 2010, 10am - 4:30pm

Where: Camden Court Hotel, Camden Street, Dublin

Fees: Waged £20/€25 Unwaged £10/€15

A bus will be provided for participants travelling from Belfast for an additional £15 (limited space available)

Please complete the registration form below and return it with payment by 5th March 2010 to:

Jenna Coriddi
Centre for Global Education
9 University Street, Belfast, BT7 1FY
N. Ireland

Please make cheques/postal orders payable to 'Centre for Global Education'.

For further information, please visit: www.centreforglobaleducation.com or email: jenna@centreforglobaleducation.com

Name:

Organisation:

Address:

Postcode: Tel:

Email:

Special requirements:

.....